

Australian birds like having a bath

Bird sightings count at bath sites from rural and urban areas from different australian regions. Left section shows counts from passeriform birds from the whole country whereas right section shows the most common bird families divided by bioregion. Color intensity represent frequency of sights.

